Hobbies and Interests:

I am passionate about gastronomy and cooking. I enjoy music, history, science and art in almost every form. I love playing guitar and ukulele as a self-taught musician and I love to sing with my wife and kids, who are learning to play music with me. I'm a proud father and a loving husband.

I wrote "I too change diapers", a parenting guide that was published under the editorial firm Planeta for the Peruvian market. The title was inspired by a post on my personal blog that went viral in Peru, and led to Peru's largest Shopping Mall to install baby diaper-changing stations in Men's bathrooms, as they originally only had them in Women's bathrooms. This made it extremely hard for a father to go on their own with their kids shopping, as they had nowhere to change a diaper. All other shopping malls followed after this small movement started online.
